VOL. 27. BLOOMSBURG, PA., FRIDAY, JANUARY 8, 1892. NO. 2

J. G. Wells purchased a good horse in Philadelphia last week.

A chicken and flannel cake supper will be served at the Parish House on Thursday, January 14th, from five o'clock until ten in the evening. Tickets 25 cents, ice cream extra.

The exchange of pulpits arranged between Rev. W. C. Leverett, and Rev. C. J. Wood of Lock Haven for next Sunday has been postponed, a telegram from Mr. Wood announcing that he has the grip.

The Holy Communion will be celebrated in the Reformed church, next Lord's Day, in the morning commencing at 10:30 o'clock. Preparatory services next Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

There will be a local Teachers' Institute held at the High School building, Bloomsburg, Saturday afternoon Jan. 9th. Everybody invited. An interesting programme has been prepared.

The ravages of the grip still continue, owing to the mild and wet weather. Many people in this section are afflicted with it, though no deaths have occurred, but in the cities the death list has been large, and still continues.

Services are being held in all the Evangelical churches of this place, in observance of the week of prayer as arranged by the Evangelical Alliance. The Presbyterian Church will continue the two weeks following.

We are pleased to learn of the good health of Jacob Fisher, of Millville. He is past 80 years of age. He has been a subscriber of THE COLUMBIAN from its beginning, now nearly 55 years ago. A half century is a long time to continue as a patron. We hope he may continue another quarter of a century.

The New Year was ushered in with a clangor of bells and blowing of steam whistles, which was kept up for nearly an hour. People who did not know that the year of our Lord 1892 had arrived, must have been sound sleepers indeed. All the church bells, the Normal School bell, the alleged fire alarm, Harman & Hassert's and other steam whistles all united in the general welcome to the New Year.

The business of the reliable firm of Alexander Bros. & Co. continues to grow, because their business methods are such as to gain the confidence of their customers, and they are always just what they represent them to be. They handle tobacco in every shape, and carry a large stock of confectionery at wholesale and retail. Their assortment of meerschaum pipes and cigar holders is the largest and finest to be found in this section. Besides this, they are very agreeable men to do business with, and they well merit the large trade which they have built up all through this section of the State.

The entertainment given in the Opera House last Friday evening by the members of the Lutheran Sunday School was well patronized. The Bible designs were beautiful, and showed much skill in the preparation. The exercises of the little folks was especially interesting. Willie Quick in the address of welcome, Helen Chrisman and Johnie Troub in a song, Mary Corell and Claude Bittenbender in a recitation and little Marguerite Eshleman in a song, all called forth applause from the large audience. The "Ten Virgins" rendered their part well. The gas Christmas tree was beautiful; the gas pipes were arranged like branches of a tree, small jets of gas coming from 300 different places on the branches.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Young People's Christian Union it was resolved that the young people's societies be requested to devote their meetings on Sunday evening, January 24th to special prayer for God's blessing on the Union Revival Services.

It was also resolved that the societies provide persons to canvass the towns, visiting each family, that they may ascertain the number of members in the family, how many attend Sunday School, and what church they prefer. This action was taken at the request of pastors and laymen of several of the churches, and is not denominational but interdenominational. The information obtained is to be used by the pastors to promote the religious welfare of their congregations, and of families preferring their respective churches. We trust that our citizens will receive these canvassers kindly when they call, and will cheerfully give them the desired information.

THE SILVER CROWN.

REV. R. H. CONWELL.

From notes taken at the County Institute by J. P. Y.

I want to talk to you about an education which is not obtained from books, but which has made more great men and women than all the study of books. Life is so short; I am trying to do all the good I can, and I want to do you all good to-night. I desire to make men better and wiser.

Some twenty three years ago while travelling in India I saw the palace of Agbar the Great which cost two hundred and twenty-five millions of dollars. It had beautiful walks six miles long and shady carriage roads for twenty seven miles.

The guide told me a story about the kings of this country. These old guides of the East are wonderful men. He said the king sat upon a throne of gold and wore a silver crown. There came a time when the Emperor died and they tried to find some one to take his place, but they could not find one for twelve years.

The wise men asked the stars where to find a king and the stars answered: "Search up and down this country until you find a man whom the animals follow, the sun serves, the waters obey, and mankind loves. He will be entitled to sit on the throne of burnished gold and wear the silver crown."

Some time after this as one of these wise men was travelling over the country he lost his way and took shelter out on the mountain side with a poor huntsman. After supper the huntsman told him to lie down by the warm fire. In the night as he lay on the earth trying to sleep, he heard the cries of the wild beasts, and as they began to gather around the rude hut, he became frightened and awakened the huntsman. When the huntsman heard the roar of the lions, the growlings of the bears, and the screams of the other animals he started to open the door. Then the wise man became still more frightened and asked, "are you going to let these wild beasts in to eat us?" "Oh, no," he said, "these are my friends" and he fed them with herbs and they licked his hands and went out. The wise man cried "I have found the king! I have found the king! Oh, no! oh, no! this can not be the king; he is only a poor huntsman." The next morning the huntsman cooked the food by means of the sun shining through a window. "This is the king; the sun serves him;" then he looked at the huntsman and said; "He cannot be the king. How can it be with all my education and yet this poor huntsman has found out more than I have learned from my books?' After a while he wanted a drink and the huntsman told him to go down to the spring, but he came back and the huntsman took some oil and put on it, then he was able to get some water. "This is the king, this is the king for the waters obey him." They went down to the entrance of valley the next day and as the wise man looked out and saw the water he asked him why it was here. After he had told him, he asked what is the secret of human success and what is it that makes success. He answered "love." "There can be no question about it, I know, it covers the whole ground. The people began to gather around this huntsman, when they heard him and found out what a wonderful man he was, and they set him upon the throne of burnished gold and placed on him the silver crown. He ruled there forty years; so tradition says, so tne old guide told me.

There is a crown of silver waiting for you, and there are thousands, who are never permitted to wear them; but who deserve them nevertheless. I can pick out the successful men and women in Bloomsburg to-night. You will say, we don't want any kings in America. You can count the leaders of politics on but very few fingers. You should be in that ring. I am looking for the person who will be on the throne ten to twenty years hence.

I used to think that Queen Victoria ruled England, but I have found out better. Who was the ruler of France eight years ago? His name was Grevy. He said he could tap the bell and all would listen. A little boy came up and said, "I want you to resign." "Well, I will not." There are times when it is worse to have a son-in-law than to have a mother-in-law. (applause.) It was not long till they would not let him have two weeks, two days or two hours, but he must resign at once. Who was the ruler? When they are found animals follow them, the sun serves them, the waters obey them and mankind will love them. Are you a king? Now if a cat will follow him you may know. God pity the man who has no dog and cat. (applause.)

After getting rods on my house, during a hard thunder-storm I looked out of my window and said to the lightning; come on, come on, you can't hit me, but he did hit me and came down through the room and burned my house.

Any man that thinks love can be made by machinery is no king.

The finest painter in America today, never took a lesson in drawing or painting. The author of Jane Eyre received her education by teaching a younger brother painting. She spent nearly all her time with him and told him to notice, notice, notice. He died at an early age, but while teaching him she learned to notice things herself. There never was and never will be any one who gives himself for another's good without making himself better. I don't understand the women. She received thirty-eight thousand dollars for her first book "Jane Eyre."

Fifty years ago a man in a lumber camp studied out what a dinner cost. On finding that it was not worth as much as they were paying, he commenced keeping a boarding house himself. In the year '38 he was eating hash and not worth five dollars. He is now in Paris worth one million twenty five thousand dollars. Where are the others? Eating hash probably.

Where will you find the kings? Sometimes we expect to find them in college, but there are other tests than book education. The sun will serve them, the waters obey them, animals will follow them, and mankind will love them.

Go back with me a few years and let us go down into the coal shaft and see that young man like the others picking ore out of the banks of coal. Is he a king? Yes, his name is Stevenson. If you notice him you will notice that he notices everything else.

I am always through when I see people go to sleep when I am preaching. I wish it would have been so when I went to church. Perhaps there are no such people here, but when you come to Philadelphia I will show you some. It is the fault of the minister.

A man, who always went to church to learn something, one Sunday became intensely interested in a fly, He drove it away from him several times and at last it went to the window. After watching it there for some time, he found out that flies never turn around without using their wings. He said he ought to have a patent for what he had learned, and so from watching that fly he received eighty three thousand dollars in gold. I say it payed him to go to church.

The world needs great teachers. The time is coming when the teacher will get twenty five thousand dollars and the lawyer one thousand or in that proportion.

Though they may forget the singer they will never forget the song. I taught music once and they used to invite me to come and play for them at parties. All the time I was playing they would be talking. It was because I did not know what music was, one part went up and up and the other part went down and down to the hades of song and staid there. If I had stood there and swore it would not have been much worse.

It has often been a great help to my memory to shut my eyes and try to see the words that I have read. It is all dark for a while, but at last the words come like a lightning flash. I cannot explain this; how it is. I never found anyone who could. A few years ago when I lectured here before, a man, who is now in New York, heard me tell about this, and he told me to-day that he could remember in the same way. He cannot tell how it is, but it is something wonderful how the words seem to come before his eyes.

We live for those that love us,
For those who know us true,
For the heaven that shines above us
And the good that we can do.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Charles M. Kile, son of John Kile of Franklin township, met with a mysterious death last Thursday night. He had been working for an uncle and started, as he said for home, driving a 4 year old colt hitched to a road cart The next morning between 9 and 10 o'clock, about two miles from his uncle's, his cap and whip were found, a little farther on the dead body was found, wrapped in a robe, with driving gloves on, and appearing as he sat in the cart; about two hundred yards beyond this was the cart, with harness and bridle thrown across the shafts, the harness but little broken. An examination showed that the boy's nose and neck were broken, skull crushed in on the right side, and a deep cut on the left. His clothing showed no signs of struggle. His cap was badly torn and had the appearance of being penetrated by shot. A piece of the cap was missing The horse was found Saturday in a field near Elysburg. It is a mystery how the horse could escape leaving harness and bridle, with the harness but little broken, with nothing broken to the cart, and the driver sitting in the road wrapped in the robe. The boy was a little over 22 years of age, a member of the M. E. Church, had endeavored to lead a Christian life, and was not known to have an enemy. Funeral services were held at Zion Grove Church Sunday morning, conducted by Rev. Souser. The cornet band of which he was a member attended in a body. W. F. Bodine and wife of Bloomsburg, attended funeral services.

The same Act of Assembly that provides that the county shall supply the stationery for the county commissioners' office also provides the same for the Prothonotary and Register and Recorder. For the past year the commissioners have refused to pay for any printed blanks for the two latter offices, though they have paid for blanks used in their own office out of county funds. The auditors have been asked to interpret the law the same for all the offices, so that if the Prothonotary and Register must pay for printed blanks, the commissioners must do the same, out of their own pockets. The action of the auditors is not yet known.

Excellent instructors have been secured, and it will be an interesting session. There will also be a Farmers' Institute at Millville on January 13 and 14.

The Rev. T. A. Lloyd of Conshohocken will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday, morning and evening.

EAST BENTON.

La-grippe prevails to an alarming extent in many localities of our community. Whole families are prostrate from its attack.

Ed Laubach, of Cambra, who met with an accident a few weeks ago necesitating the amputation of the hand, is not doing as well as was hoped, or expected. He suffers very severe pain in his arm betimes.

Protracted meeting was commenced at Hamiline last Monday evening. Prayer meeting Sunday night previous. This meeting is held under the auspices Revs. Hamlin and Alberson with Rev. F H Tubbs if health permits, as an excellent helper.

On New Year's night, some young people, enjoying a pleasure excursion, were returning from the direction of Benton towards Cambra about 2 o'clock a. m., dark as Egypt driving at a high speed, and perched in dog carts the left wheel of the rear cart (two being in company) missing the bridge at this place, the cart landed a perfect wreck on the other side. The wreck was backed into our shed. No one was injured, but the miracle is that somebody was not killed. We have not learned who the parties were. Girls, caution your beau not to drive so fast, especially when dark.

Benton seems to out travel other towns along the line of the B. & S. R. R. Why it should is a mystery, but nevertheless such seems to be the fact. We cannot see that the town has any superior advantages over other towns, or better facilities, but there is a lively activity in every department of business within its limits. One may enter the mammoth store of G. L. &. C. B. McHenry and at once conclude that everybody is trading with them. Two or three handsome lady clerks together with a force of gentlemen are kept busy waiting on customers. A little further up town you enter the store of J. J. & O. H. McHenry and every body seems to be trading there. Apparently there is as much business activity in this store as in the store below, as customers are often obliged to wait their turn with seeming impatience.

Still further up is Al McHenry's store. and one would suppose that the mercantile business is all done below. But you need not be there long before you conclude that there is no other store in town.

There are other stores in town, including the Post office, of smaller capacities, but these all have a fair share of the public patronage.

Considering all the stores and business places within close proximity of town, and of towns surrounding it, the question suggests itself, "Where do all the people come from who trade every day at Benton?"

But the mercantile is not the only line of business activity. Along the streets we notice the Keller tin shop, drug store, harness maker, blacksmith and wagon-maker shops, millinery shops, dress makers, toy and candy shop, gunsmith, watchmaker and confectionery, dentistry, sewing machine and musical instrument departments.

The agricultural implements are also represented, and a clean shave awaits them all when the barber applies his brush and razor. The planing mill and shirt factory are kept bouncing at full capacity. The hotels accommodate all comers and goers with the best in the market. The mechanics and tradesmen have steady employment, while we are informed that farmers near and around town find it almost impossible to secure a towns man to perform a day's labor on the farm, so busily engaged are the town's people of Benton.

Five physicians reside in town who are kept busy in the medical profession. Two coal dealers also have a thriving business here. The intellectual needs of the town are well provided for in the public school building, while not exactly an ornament of costly structure, nor designed for classical education of great literary attainments preparatory to a college course, nevertheless, is, well adapted to the requirements, time and circumstances of the community.

The moral wants of the people are not neglected, as a resident minister is located here, and the M. E. church is an ornament to the town, while the Christian chapel across the bridge, though of long standing, is less imposing, though the services of sanctuary may not be less impressive. Thus the moral needs of the people lack not in point of opportunity. The town seems well balanced in all departments and a desirable place to reside in.

C. L. Hartman, collector of Hemlock township, will be at his residence the entire day, Jan. 20, 1892, to receive taxes. 5 per cent. will be added to all taxes unpaid after that date.

PERSONAL.

Frank Wilson was the first man out with a sleigh on Wednesday.

Miss Bessie Kuhn will start Saturday for the Conservatory of Music at Philadelphia, where she will remain during the winter.

Miss Anna, daughter of I. K. Appleman, has just recovered from an attack of La Grippe. She has been unfortunate, last year just preceeding the Junior examination she was afflicted with measels, but she passed the examination and now stands well in the Senior class.

The store and dwelling of G. B. Hosler at Rupert were destroyed by fire last Monday night at 11 o'clock. While putting out a lamp Mr. Hosler stumbled and upset the lamp, and the burning oil spread over the floor and gained headway so quickly that it could not be controlled. Everything was burned but a few pieces of furniture. The bright light brought out the fire companies but they only went as far as Scott town hill. The property was insured.

Rev, Arthur J. Smith, the Evangelist, has been called by five of the churches of Bloomsburg to conduct Union Revival Services during the first two weeks of February. He has been holding similar services in Philadelphia and we take the following extract from a paper of that city dated November 19th, 1891.

UNION REVIVAL MEETINGS.

Last week a series of Union Revival Meetings were inaugurated in and under the auspices of Trinity Presbyterian, Simpson Memorial M. E., and Allegheny avenue Baptist churches. The meetings are in charge of the eminently successful evangelist, Mr. Arthur J. Smith.

The first four meetings were held in the Allegheny avenue Baptist church, after which they were taken to the Trinity Presbyterian church. On last Sunday morning at 9 o'clock a Union Service was held in the Baptist church, conducted by Mr. Smith, the audience being so great that the doors were locked and quite a number could not gain admittance.

At 10 o'clock Rev. Mr. Ferguson preached, and in the evening there was no service in this church.

At Simpson Memorial M E., at 10:30, Rev. Dr. Shanks, (Pastor of Trinity Presbyterian church) preached, and at 7 p. m. a Union Service for Christians, led by Mr. Smith, was held with great benefit.

At Trinity Presbyterion church, at 10:30 a. m, Rev. Mr. Johnston, (Pastor of Allegheny avenue Baptist church) preached. At 3:30 a young people's meeting was held, led by Mr. Smith, and the house was crowded to the doors. As the young people from Simpson Memorial Sunday School walked into the church in a body they sang "Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love." A hallowed influence seemed to pervade the entire assembly, and the Holy Spirit seemed to be working in a most wondrous manner. The following is a copy of the cards distributed at the meetings.

WHAT!! NO!

Yes! Uncle Tom's Cabin Company will be here Saturday night, January 9. Have you ever heard it? Don't loose the opportunity. This interesting drama will be produced by a strong Company. Read what the Bedford (Ind.) Democrat, says:

Marney & McGowen's Spectacular Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. showed at the Bedford Opera House. This company is composed of the best artists that money can procure. The company numbers twenty people and among them are some of the strongest specialists in America. They carry their special scenery for each act, and it is without doubt the greatest production of Uncle Tom now traveling.—Bedford (Ind.) Democrat. Bloomsburg, Saturday January 9th.

OLD YEAR, YOU LIMP.

Old year, you limp, you're getting old;
Your head is bald, your teeth are few;
If you can't step around more bold,
Just get right out; let in the new.

Come, hurry up there, stiff old legs,
We want a brisker step and stride;
You lag as if you walked on pegs—
As if the most of you had died.

You've carried me through many a storm,
You've borne me on 'mid warmth and cold,
You're gray, the winds have beat your form;
For me, the storms have made you old.

Yes, totter on, I will not sneer,
But when you've passed beyond the pale,
And when I smile on a new year,
I'll drop a tear upon your trail.

ROSE JAFFREY'S LOVER.

Was there a madder little bit of beauty in all the town than Rose Jaffreys was? Mad in her love of dancing, of music, of dress, of lovers, of life! Not that she loved the lovers, nor one of them. She let them love her and hover around her for want of better. But the one she might, she could, she would have loved only looked on while she danced.

"Why shouldn't I dance," she said to her demure cousin Margaret, "because Gordon Penmore looks daggers at the dancers? You should see his (Gordon's) eyes as he watches me lying in Haydon Roth's arms in that new figure, and floating, floating, floating— And I'm not really lying in his arms at all, you know, but taking care of myself like a piece of cut steel. I don't know why Gordon Penmore should make it his affair at all. Oh, how I should hate to be obedient to his whims—to any man's whims."

And before she had well ceased speaking the little sprite's face was buried among the sofa cushions, and she was shaking with a gust of sobs. "The idea!" she cried, springing to her feet the next moment. "Crying for all I am worth because Gordon Penmore is—is in existence! What should I care for the great arrow pointed eyes? I will let him see to-night!"

And she did, as she danced at Mrs. Baddon's ball—danced as the waves dance, as lightly, as gayly, as tirelessly. She stopped suddenly—stopped just where he stood, at the conservatory door.

"It makes one almost giddy," she said, smiling faintly.

"Quite," said he gravely.

"Thanks, Mr. Roth. Now I am going to remember my promise for the rest of the waltz in favor of my cousin Margaret. If you want to do me a favor you will take her out. And I will stay beside Mr. Penmore till you bring her here."

"You don't approve of all this, do you?" she said, looking up at Gordon.

"Don't approve", he repeated.

"No, you don't approve of it. And I wonder what you are here for. You know you are just as—as wicked in countenancing the wrong by looking on as I am in doing it. Oh, what a lovely air! How can you keep your feet still?"

"You can't," he said, smiling.

"Oh, if you only knew anything about dancing," she exclaimed, "you couldn't either. It is like having wings. Ah! that air is simply delicious."

"Well, let us try it," said Gordon Penmore, "I can waltz on occasion. Let me see if dancing is all you say it is—that is," remembering himself, "if you will do me the honor."

"Oh, honor!" said Rose, laughing like a mischievous sprite. "You know you don't regard it so at all. You look at it almost as a degradation. All the same, you are dancing! And I will show you that you have never danced before." And then Gordon Penmore, with Rose in his arms, her soft cheek flushing under his eye, her sweet breath warm on his bending face, her heart beating so that he could feel its throbs, was whirling in the maddest waltz of the night. But waking from the dream they were just beside the conservatory door once more, and, neither exactly knowing how, they had wandered down one of the dewy alleys, and had paused as if to breathe the bewildering odors in the shadow of a group of lemon trees. Neither of them spoke, till slowly, as if drawn by an unwilling fate, their eyes met in a long deep gaze, and his head bent, his arms were around her, and their lips met in the strong sweet kiss of a passion that belonged to the eternities.

When next morning Gordon Penmore came, Rose crept into the drawing room like a guilty child.

"I thought—oh, I thought," she whispered, after he had reassured her, "that you—you despised me."

"I shall never even despise dancing again, now that it has given me you," he exclaimed. "How could I dream you loved me?" he said.

When he left her that day he left on her hand a ring of a strange and fragile setting, that held an old mine stone of rare brilliance. "It is the most sacred thing I have," he said. "It was my mother's betrothal ring; it shall be yours."

"Oh," she cried, "I am not good enough. I am not half good enough for you. You should have chosen Cousin Margaret, who is a saint, instead of a frivolous butterfly like me, whose feet are her wings."

"You have wings," he said, "but they are angels' wings. Oh, never spread them to leave my arms."

And how he loved her, or seemed to love her! He would have lavished the world upon her; jewels and all costly things, but her cousin Margaret would let her have none of them, and so instead he filled the house every day with flowers. But her dancing days were over. "After that night," said he, "I can never dance again. You cannot repeat heaven." Nor could he ever see her thus in the arms of another.

Ignorant of the crown that Rose had bestowed on his rival, Haydon Roth still devoted himself to her with the ardor that comes from love and hope. And Gordon, who was jealous of the wind that touched her, became uneasy and sometimes spoke scorningly of him. Sometimes he spoke scorningly, and once he went out having forbidden Rose to recognize the persistent fellow when next she met him.

But Rose did not mind. "Of course he did not mean it," she said, when up in her room with Margaret, as she combed out her long lovely hair—hair like spun gold. "He couldn't mean anything so unkind as that. Don't you see how he is reforming me, Cousin Margaret? I shall some day be as much a saint as you are. He says I am an angel now! Oh, no, he will come in next time very likely arm in arm with Haydon Roth."

"He is coming to take us to the opera to-night, Cousin Margaret," she said, coming into the drawing room after luncheon. "Oh, how happy I am! I am so happy that I feel as if something were going to happen. But I suppose," she added, "that it is only because I don't deserve him! He is so great and good and fine and noble and"— And then, with her hands clasped above her head, she was off all alone by herself, swimming down the room in a waltz to the tune of her own caroling.

And suddenly a strong arm had stolen around her, a hand had grasped one of hers, and Haydon Roth, who had been shown in by the butler, was waltzing down the room with her.

Then all at once she sprang after something that rolled away, and cried in a piercing voice: "Oh, Margaret! my ring! my ring! It is broken—it has come off—the stone is gone! Oh, what am I to do? Oh, it was his mother's!" she cried forgetting all about Haydon's presence. "He said it was sacred. I mustn't tell him; he will think I took no care of it. And I was dancing!" And she was moving everything, looking everywhere, searching in vain for the stone and the broken fragment of the fragile setting with it.

"It is of no use," thought Margaret. "I won't have the child suffer so for the few hundred dollars another stone would cost." And she came down and handed the broken ring to Haydon Roth, asking him to leave it at the jeweler's and have it repaired, and the stone replaced at any price before the next noon.

* * * * * * *

Rose descended dressed for the opera when her lover came that night. There was time only for Gordon to note a singular agitation and a heightened color about her, while she wept and laughed at the music in a half hysterical way, and trembled as he handed her up the steps at last.

"Oh," she said, nestling a moment in his embrace as they parted in the dim dining room, "nothing could ever let you leave off loving me?"

"No power in all the universe," he answered her.

"I shall have to tell him tomorrow," said Rose tearfully after he had gone.

"Oh, tomorrow we may find it," said Cousin Margaret, "and afford to laugh about the whole thing."

A half hour afterward, as her maid was taking down the great coils of hair, something bright as any star was seen to hang fixed in the meshes. It was the diamond that her rapid turn of hand and wrist had torn away from its slight stem of gold after it had caught in her hair.

"Yes," said Cousin Margaret, "we can tell the whole story tomorrow, and I shall have a diamond to spare. You didn't know I had sent the ring to the jeweler's, did you?"

And tomorrow Gordon Penmore met Haydon Roth drawing on his glove over an obstructing ring upon his little finger.

"Where did you come across that ring, may I ask?" he exclaimed, pausing directly in front of the other.

And moved by that spirit of mischief, Haydon answered: "It belongs to a lady with whom I was dancing yesterday afternoon. I do not like to take liberties with names; it is enough that it was given to me by a lady."

In another moment he would have explained his poor jest, but Gordon, his face as white as ashes, had merely bowed and passed on.

She had danced with another man and against his wishes, and she had given away his mother's ring. He left that town that night without a word. Rose waited for him—waited one year, waited half a score. If he were dead, her heart was in the grave with him, and whether he were dead or not she could not know.

* * * * * * * *

It was a wintry night in one of those islands that are the outposts of our northern coast, where a person still young, still beautiful, but with a strange still sadness in her beauty, who had chanced upon the place in its summer radiance of smiling seas, had come again to make a home the year round, to teach the children of the fishermen and to live the life of a Sister of Charity among the dwellers in the fishing huts, half driftwood and half primal rock.

She had her dead Cousin Margaret's fortune, and she spent it, with her own, on these people, but she gave them more than money, for she gave them all herself, reading to those that could follow, talking to those that would listen, working with them and for them, and finding her only cheer and consolation so.

It was the last night of the year. A group of the young girls had come down to Rose's cottage to bring her their gifts of shells and seaweeds and were lingering there, when suddenly in one of the awe struck silences came the sharp report and rolling echo of a gun.

In a moment men were running to the boats, the women thronging to the shore; the young girls and children, and Rose with them, were building a bonfire on the cliffs. Dimly could be discerned on a distant reef the dark outline of a huge steamship that had struck the reef with tremendous force, had broken in two, and with a frightful rapidity was settling to her fate. With ropes about them the fishers waded and swam out; thrown back breathless, once again venturing; at length one awful screaming billow, seeming to soar into midair, and then throw them all together in a mass upon the shore.

It was more than an hour that the auld wives of the place worked on the unconscious being whom the sea had cast up, and whom they had taken into the nearest cottage—the cottage where Rose dwelt. At length a long shiver ran through his frame, and he opened his clouded eyes and murmured something huskily and fell into a deep sleep.

It was an hour or more afterward that he awoke. The others had all gone, dismissed by her. Rose sat at his feet, distinct against the sapphire vault of the moon lighted sky seen through the uncurtained window, and only a low gleam of the fire now and then falling across her.

"Rose is dead, then," he said. "And you are some mocking spirit in her form. Oh, you cannot deceive me, though you comb the curl out of the yellow hair, though you put nun's cloth on that supple shape, for you wear my ring upon your finger, and she never looked so till I broke her heart!"

"You are talking in your sleep," she said, bending forward and taking his burning hands. "This is Rose. Your Rose. All the rest is nothing now."

He gazed at her steadfastly a moment, the cloud clearing from his eyes, the oppression from his brain. "Nothing!" he cried, "nothing!" the words coming in quick gasps. "I was coming back to find you. Out in the deserts I had seen my foolishness. I had said: 'She is mine! She always was mine! She loved me! May the thing be accursed that parted us—ring or dance or childish freak or maddened temper. I will never ask her. She shall never tell me!'"—

"Oh, there is nothing to tell!" cried Rose.

He held out his arms to her. "We have lost ten years," he murmured. "We will have the rest of the threescore. Nothing shall part us now. Oh, Rose"—

"Nothing shall part us!" she repeated. "The years have burned out my folly and your fury. Hark! A new one is beginning and our new life with it."

"It is our wedding peal," he said. And then her lover's arms were about her as if they would never loosen, and their souls met at their lips, while the cathedral chime of the island clock tolled out over the waters the first hour of the new year.—Harriet Prescott Spofford in Harper's Bazar.

BULKELEY IS GOVERNOR.

Decision of the Supreme Court in Connecticut's Election Muddle.

HARTFORD, Jan. 6.—The decision of the Supreme Court of Errors in the quo warranto case of Judge Luzon B. Morris against Gov. Bulkeley was rendered yesterday, and it upholds Bulkeley as governor de facto and governor de jure of the State. The decision, which is unanimous, was written by Chief Justice Andrews.

The basis of the argument of the Court in sustaining Gov. Bulkeley is in the fact that the Legislature made no declaration of the election of State officers, and the Court holds that the election is not complete until such declaration is made. The provision of the Constitution that this declaration must be made on the second day of the session is explicit, and the fact that no declaration was made precludes the possibility of the present General Assembly from completing the election by declaring the result, as any such declaration now would be unconstitutional. The only way, the court says, that Judge Morris can now establish the fact of the majority he claims is through the Superior Court.

SUCCI OUTDONE.

A Young Girl Who Has Lived Two Years on Very Little Food.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Two years ago May Cross, a young daughter of Edward Cross, a carpenter, was taken ill with an attack of the grip, which left her with a weakening of the spine. This was aggravated by an attempt to lift a heavy tub, and since that time she has been bedridden. For long periods her stomach absolutely refuses to retain food, and her parents claim that she has gone sixty-five days without taking more than a teacupful of nourishment. For a time she would take a sip or two of cider a day. When that refused to assimilate milk was tried, then broths. At present time she can only retain mutton broth, of which she drinks half a cup every morning.

The girl is quite plump and healthy in appearance. She never sleeps at night, and can only close her eyes for about an hour in the morning.

QUAY THINKS ALGER ISN'T IN IT.

But He Says There is No Telling What May Happen Between Now and June.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 4.—Senator Quay spent several hours in Pittsburg yesterday on his way to Washington. He does not take much stock in the reports of Gen. Alger's candidacy for the presidential nomination.

"I don't believe Gen. Alger will be a candidate," he said. "There are only two names spoken of in connection with the coming nomination—Harrison and Blaine. If the convention was held to-morrow I think President Harrison would be nominated if Blaine was not a candidate. If Blaine was a candidate he would be nominated by acclamation. But there is no telling what may occur between now and June. I am confident though, that Blaine will accept the nomination if it is given him."

CANADA'S DESTINY.

Henry Labouchere Says It is to Become Part of the United States.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Truth, Henry Labouchere's newspaper, says that the manifest destiny of Canada is to become a new United States or else to become a part of the great republic.

"The change," he says, "is inevitable, and the sooner it occurs the better, as Great Britain would then be relieved from the necessity of engaging in transatlantic squabbles in which she has no concern.

"The only sufferer," Truth says, "would be the Canadian Indians, who would be transferred to what is probably the most corrupt and rascally institution on earth, the Washington Indian Bureau."

Cost of the Eleventh Census.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Supt. Porter reports to the Secretary of the Interior that the cost of collection of data for the eleventh census has been $3,600,355, and that the total cost of the census, excluding printing and farms, homes and mortgages will not exceed, he thinks, $7,000,000, or a trifle over eleven cents per capita. The tenth census cost $5,000,000, or about ten cents per capita. The census work proper, he thinks, will be finished and ready for the printer by the close of this year.

Burned the Jail.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 5.—Talton Hall, the red handed assassin of ninety-nine men, was removed from Gladesville jail yesterday to save his neck. A mob organized and would have hanged him.

They advanced on the jail, and were so wild over his removal that they set fire to it.

Hall was removed to Wizena in a close covered wagon. The people of that section are wild.

She Has Fasted 640 Days.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Jan. 4.—Mrs. Adam Wuchter, of Whitehall, seven miles from here, whose strange experience as an involuntary faster created such widespread interest during the summer and fall of 1890, is still alive, apparently having subsisted 640 days without tasting even liquid nourishment. She is now blind, bed-ridden, paralytic and wasted to a shadow. She began her fast on April 4, 1890.

Grip Bacillus Discovered.

BERLIN, Germany, Jan. 6.—Dr. Pfeiffer, son-in-law of the distinguished Professor Koch, has discovered the influenza bacillus, and has transplanted it in six cases with complete success. He has also discovered the original cause of affection. The bacillus of influenza is the smallest bacillus yet discovered.

CHEATING IN HORSE BLANKETS

Nearly every pattern of 5/A Horse Blanket is imitated in color and style. In most cases the imitation looks just as good as the genuine, but it hasn't the warp threads, and so lacks strength, and while it sells for only a little less than the genuine it isn't worth one-half as much. The fact that 5/A Horse Blankets are copied is strong evidence that they are THE STANDARD, and every buyer should see that the 5/A trade mark is sewed on the inside of the Blanket.

AN OHIO SENSATION.

SEQUEL TO AN EXPRESS ROBBERY OF TEN YEARS AGO.

The Former Town Marshal of Lima, O., Involved—Suit Brought Against Him and His Son by the Express Company to Recover Its Loss.

LIMA, O., Jan. 4.—Ten years ago the United States Express Company's office here was broken into and $7,300 in cash stolen. During all the time since the company has had detectives at work on the case, but nothing was done until Saturday, when suit was brought against William R. Colvin and Harmon Colvin for the amount, $7,300, together with the interest from February 1, 1882, the time when the money was taken. William Colvin was town marshal at the time of the robbery. Harmon Colvin is his son. The express company at that time occupied a room in the old Pennsylvania Railroad depot jointly with the Adams Express Company, each bearing half of the expense.

The agent at the time was George W. Myers, and Joseph Corns was on duty at night. The United States Company operated on the Lake Erie and Western Railroad, which had just been completed a year or two before, and the money to pay the employees was sent from Lafayette each month to Paymaster Thomas.

The shipment in February, 1882, was $7,300, and was received here on the night of February 21. About $1,000 of the amount was in coin and the rest in currency. The former was in a bag. The night was exceedingly stormy and only those whose business demanded it were about.

The money arrived on the 10 o'clock train, and after placing it in the office Night Agent Corns went out to attend to several trains which were late.

In the mean time the office was broken into and the money taken. The robbery was discovered by Agent Corns upon his return to the office about midnight. He found the door battered down, with evidence that it had been done from the inside.

The petition in to-day's case is filed by Thomas C. Platt of New York, the president of the United States Express Company.

A NOTED ROBBER RUN DOWN.

Capture of Ex-Convict Sly, Who Held Up an Express Train Near St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 31.—The leader of the gang that robbed Adam Express Messenger Mulrennan on the 'Frisco road, at Glendale, a suburb of St. Louis, on the night of November 30, is under arrest, a female accomplice is also in custody, and the capture of the other seems only a matter of time. The leader of the gang is Albert D. Sly, a noted convict from the Missouri penitentiary.

The latest series of exploits by Sly and his fellow bandits, began with the robbery of the street-car barns in Omaha, in October, in which they used dynamite, and secured a large amount of money. They also robbed the Metropolitan street barns in Kansas City, in the same month. Then came the robbery of the Pacific Express Company, on the Missouri Pacific railroad, near Omaha, on the night of November 4.

SET HER ON FIRE.

Masked Robbers Compel a Widow to Sign Checks and Pour Oil on Her.

ATCHISON, Kan., Dec. 31.—Early yesterday morning two masked men entered the residence of Mrs. Jonathan Davis, a widow living in the extreme western part of Atchison county, and compelled her, at the point of revolvers, to sign a number of checks, amounting to $600. Then they poured coal oil on her clothing and set in on fire.

With great presence of mind Mrs. Davis grabbed a quilt, wrapped it about herself and extinguished the flames. There is no clew to the perpetrators of the deed, although it is believed they are the same men who robbed John Killion, the bachelor farmer.

Suicide Cut the Honeymoon Short.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31.—William Marsh, aged about nineteen, who has been living with his father, Daniel Marsh, at Foostown, near Milton, Pa., committed suicide Tuesday night. He was married on Saturday to Miss Agnes Wiley, at Camden, N. J., unknown to his parents. The family opposed the match because the girl "lived out." On his presenting the certificate of their marriage, asking if he could bring his wife home, objection was made, and, remarking that he would not then be with them to worry them long, he went upstairs to his room and shot himself.

Dressing in Good Taste.

American ladies, especially in the larger cities and towns, are becoming noted for their good taste in dress. This is largely due to the fact that they secure the best Fashion Journals published, and by a careful study of them they get correct ideas upon the all-important subject of dress. Anybody can cultivate her taste in this direction if she will only go to the trouble of comparing the styles found in the reliable Fashion Journals published by A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th St., N. Y., with those appearing in other Fashion Magazines. Those issued by A. McDowell & Co., are produced only by the best artists, and are for the most part plain, and in every respect practical; the others are generally very loud or dowdy, and thoroughly unsuitable for the requirements of American women. The firm of A. McDowell & Co. seeks to furnish ladies with genuine French styles, such as can be used without any danger of appearing ridiculous. Hence their Fashion Journals are now the favorites with all ladies of good taste throughout the country. "La Mode de Paris" gives the latest French styles. "Album des Modes" furnishes styles which are popular in Paris. "La Mode" gives a selection of styles which are serviceable to the family. The two former are each 35 cents a copy, or 3.50 a year. The last is 15 cents a copy, or 1.50 per annum. They are supplied by newsdealers, or direct to subscribers from the house.

The Work of a Good Man.

WHAT DR. B. M. WOOLLEY IS DOING FOR THE SUFFERERS FROM THE USE OF OPIUM AND WHISKEY.

The works of a good man live after him. He enjoys the blessings and distinctions they entitle him to in this world, and build for him a home in eternity. It is the mission of every living soul to do some good to benefit humanity in some way. Notwithstanding this fact how few look upon life in this manner.

A few now and then, here and there, realize this great responsibility, and devote their lives to the salvation of their fellowmen. One of the most conspicuous examples of this character in Atlanta, is Dr. B. M. Woolley. He is a man noted for his Christian integrity and fair dealing, being an old and highly esteemed citizen of Atlanta, and having built up a reputation among his home folks as a specialist in the cure of the opium and whiskey habits that is of the highest character. Although he has had years of experience in the treatment of these dreadful diseases, he is yet an ardent student, and studies the science of his profession with as much diligence as if he were only just entering the profession.

Dr. Woolley, unlike a great many specialists, treats what is called the opium and whiskey habits as a disease, affirming that they are strictly diseases, and nine times out of ten the sufferers are not directly responsible for their condition. The success he has had in this line has been something phenomenal. He has cured patients in every state and territory in the Union, and has treated cases in London, France, Germany, Canada and Mexico.

Opium and whiskey are two of the most powerful, and when improperly used, the most life destroying medicines in the world, and to know how to extract or eradicate the effects of these drugs from the human body is an art to which Dr. Woolley can justly lay claim. As evidence he simply refers to his hundreds of patients who have been thoroughly and soundly cured. Being a man of scholarly attainments, he has prepared a work on opium and whiskey, and their effects upon the human constitution. In his work he has testimonials of people whom he has successfully treated and permanently cured. This book will be mailed free of charge to your address if you will only send Dr. Wooley a letter asking for it. If you are not afflicted with the opium or whisky disease, probably you know of a friend or have a relative who is. If you will kindly send their names or inform them of Dr. Wooley's ability, he will take pleasure in sending them any information they may desire. Address Dr. B. M. Wooley, Atlanta, Ga. (Atlanta Constitution.) Jan-8-2t.

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of the COLUMBIAN will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

Does Experience Count?

It does in every line of business, and especially in compounding and preparing medicines. This is illustrated in the great superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla, over other preparations, as shown by the remarkable cures it has accomplished.

The head of the firm of C. I. Hood & Co., is a thoroughly competent and experienced pharmacist, having devoted his whole life to the study and actual preparation of medicines. He is also a member of the Massachusetts and American Pharmaceutical Association, and continues actively devoted to supervising the preparation of and managing the business connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hence the superiority and peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is built upon the most substantial foundation. In its preparation there is represented all the knowledge which modern research in medical science has developed, combined with long experience, brain-work and experiment. It is only necessary to give this medicine a fair trial to realize its great curative value.

ATTESTED POPULARITY. One of the most honest and reliable houses we have ever dealt with is the Swift's Specific Company, of Atlanta, Ga., the well known founders and manufacturers of the so very popular blood remedy, S. S. S., which to our personal knowledge has cured many people throughout this section, of terrible blood diseases. Our druggists inform us that in the past six months they have sold more of S. S. S. than any other preparation for the blood, on their shelves. The success achieved by that firm is mainly due to their extensive advertising and to the purity of their medicine, which does anything claimed for it. We are unable to record a single instance where a purchaser has been deceived or disappointed.

A POPULAR FAMILY.

JENNIE: "How is it, Kate, that you always seem to 'catch on' to the last new thing? Do what I may, you always seem to get ahead of me."

KATE: "I don't know; I certainly do not make any exertion in that direction."

JENNIE: "Well, during the last few months, for example, you have taken up painting, without any teacher; you came to the rescue when Miss Latarge deserted her Delsarte class so suddenly, and certainly we are all improving in grace under your instruction; I heard you telling Tommy Eames last evening how his club made mistakes in playing baseball; you seem to be up on all the latest 'fads,' and know just what to do under all circumstances; you entertain beautifully; and in the last month you have improved so in health, owing, you tell me, to your physical culture exercises. Where do you get all of your information from in this little out-of-the way place?—for you never go to the city."

KATE: "Why, Jennie, you will make me vain. I have only one source of information, but it is surprising how it meets all wants. I very seldom hear of anything new but what the next few days bring me full information on the subject. Magic? No! Magazine! And a great treasure it is to us all, for it really furnishes the reading for the whole household: father has given up his magazine that he has taken for years, as he says this one gives more and better information on the subjects of the day; and mother says that it is that that makes her such a famous housekeeper. In fact, we all agree that it is the only really FAMILY magazine published, as we have sent for samples of all of them, and find that one is all for men, another all for women, and another for children only, while this one suits every one of us; so we only need to take one instead of several, and that is where the economy comes in, for it is only $2.00 a year. Perhaps you think I am too lavish in my praise; but I will let you see ours, or, better still, send 10 cents to the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York, for a sample copy, and I shall always consider that I have done you a great favor; and may be you will be cutting us out, as you say we have the reputation of being the best informed family in town. If that be so, it is Demorest's Family Magazine that does it."

FRIDAY, JANUARY 8, 1892.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 4th, 1892.

Speaker Crisp has found such a hard taskmaster in the grip which has held fast to him ever since the day of the recess adjournment, that it is not probable that he will be well enough to preside over the House when it reassembles tomorrow. In that case the House is not expected to transact any further business than the election of a Speaker protem, and the adoption of a resolution authorizing the employment of clerks to the various commitees.

This programme may however be added to, if Mr. Harrison shall send in the Chilian correspondence and his special message, as it has been semi-officially announced that he would do this week. If the correspondence and the message shall prove to be as important as the public have been led to believe, the House will probably take it up at once to the temporary exclusion of all other business. In this connection it may be well to give the views of Representative McCreary of Kentucky, who has long been justly regarded as one of the clearest headed democratic members of the House committee on Foreign Affairs. He says: 'I still think that the Chilians will not want to go to war with us. I believe they will make proper reparation for the affront that has been given us. They have nothing to gain from such an unequal contest. Peru would be only too willing to give the United States permission to land troops on her soil and to establish store houses there. We could land one hundred thousand troops, and such a step being once taken, there would be no halt until our forces had marched through the whole country. The intelligent Chilians must appreciate this danger, if they compel hostilities, and upon the assumption that they do I believe that they will not permit war. Soon after Congress reconvenes the President will send the correspondence to the two houses and then we can consider the situation with a better understanding. I am sure that the course of the United States will be dignified, firm and courageous. Whatever the result, I do not think we can be charged with having rushed into war, or that we shall suffer any loss of dignity." The last sentence is significant, as there are reasons for the belief that Representative McCreary has already read the correspondence.

Were it not for the fact that Frank Hatton has been known to bear a bitter personal grudge against Mr. Blaine ever since just before the meeting of the repulican national convention in 1880, his rather plain intimations in the Washington Post, that Mr. Blaine had, by reason of a business deal with ex-Mayor Grace, of New York, who has large business interests in Chili, determined to prevent war between the countries, even if it becomes necessary to back down to do it, would have created a sensation. As it is they have only raised a smile, and recalled the adage "Give a dog a bad name, etc."

Although nothing definite is known on the subject it seems to be the opinion of the majority of democrats that the committee on Rules of the House will not recommend the restoration of all the appropriation bills to the Committee on Appropriations, as they were some years ago, and as Representatives Holman, Sayers, Dockerty and other champions of economy wish them to be again. It is possible that the committee may conclude to get the views of a democratic caucus before acting on this very important matter.

Representative Springer has prepared the first of the series of tariff bills with which it is proposed to assault the present class-favoring law, and it will be submitted to the Ways and Means Committee in a few days probably this week. It would put wool on the free list, and place carpets on about the basis proposed by the Mills bill.

Ex-Representative Perkins, of Kansas, who is to attempt to fill the vacant chair of the late Senator Plumb, by right of a gubernatorial appointment, did not make a reputation to be very proud of during the four sessions he served as a member of the House. As a statesman he was a bad misfit, but as a blind partisan, losing sight of everything but the momentary success of his party, he was a howling success. His career in the Senate will probably be but a repetition of that in the House.

The amount of sugar bounty so far paid, under the McKinley tariff law, is nearly one million dollars; to be exact, $962,930.

Although the administration estimate for the payment of pensions for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1892, is only—mark the only—$144,000,000, those who have devoted much study to the subject predict that it will require at least $20,000,000 more.

The U. S. Supreme Court has reversed decision of the Nebraska State Court, and decided that Gov. Boyd is the legal governor of that State.

Provide yourself with a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and so have the means at hand for contending successfully with a sudden cold. As an emergency medicine, it has no equal, and leading physicians everywhere recommend it.

Dr. Waller is a Winner.

THE SUPREME COURT DECIDES THAT HE IS THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

HE SERVES OUT THE UNEXPIRED TERM OF DR. HIGBEE, WHICH ENDS MARCH, 1893.

The supreme court of the state of Pennsylvania convened in Philadelphia Monday and decided the contention as to the right of appointment to the vacancy in the office of superintendent of public instruction, caused by the death of the late Dr. Higbee. The dispute was between rival appointees of Governor Pattison and Governor Beaver, and the decision was in favor of the latter's oppointee, Dr. D. J. Waller, Jr.

Dr. Waller was originally appointed on February 14, 1891, the senate not then being in session. The next session of the senate began on the first Tuesday of January, 1890, and on January 19th Governor Beaver named him for four years from March 1st, 1890. On January 20 this nomination was confirmed. On the same day Governor Pattison went into office, and, instead of issuing a commission to Dr Waller, he appointed Z X. Snyder to the position. Mr. Snyder's nomination was rejected by the senate, but Attorney General Hensel subsequently issued a writ of quo warranto against Waller, the governor having re appointed Snyder after the adjournment of the senate. The decision of the Dauphin county common pleas was in favor of the commonwealth, but the supreme court reverses the judgment.

INTERPRETING THE CONSTITUTION.

After quoting from article four, section eight, of the constitution, the chief justice says: "This clause of the constitution is by no means clear. It will be noticed, however, that there are two classes of vacancies to be filled by appointment by the governor, those that relate to elective offices and those that are non-elective. In the former, the governor can only fill a vacancy until such time as the people can fill it by an election. Hence the commission of the governor can run no further. In the other case no time is designated during which his appointee can hold, except the single provision that if a vacancy shall occur during the recess of the senate he shall be commissioned until the end of the next session. This simply means that his appointee to this class of offices shall be confirmed by the senate, otherwise his incumbency expires with its adjournment. But if confirmed, he is entitled to hold for the balance of the unexpired term. He appoints to fill the vacancy. What is the vacancy? Clearly the term of office left unfilled, when not otherwise provided for. Governor Beaver exercised this power. He filled the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Higbee, and his appointee having been duly confirmed by the senate, the respondent is in office by virtue of under the constitution and laws of the state. The confirmation of respondent by the senate necessarily extends his original appointment for the balance of the unexpired term."

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, has no other preparation ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

"There's something behind it." That's what you think, perhaps, when you read that the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer $500 reward for an incurable case of Catarrh. Rather unusual, you think, to find the makers of a medicine trying to prove that they believe in it. "There must be something back of it!"

But it's a plain, square offer, made in good faith. The only thing that's back of it is the Remedy. It cures Catarrh in the Head. To its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, the worst cases yield, no matter how bad or of how long standing. It has a record that goes back for 25 years. It doesn't simply relieve—it perfectly and permanently cures. With a Remedy like this, the proprietors can make such an offer and mean it. To be sure there's risk in it, but it's so very small that they are willing to take it.

You've "never heard of anything like this offer?" True enough. But then you've never heard of anything like Dr. Sage's Remedy.

A. B. CATHCART, P. M.

Takes 1000 people to buy Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, at 50 cents a bottle, to make up $500. One failure to cure would take the profit from 4000 sales. Its makers profess to cure "cold in head," and even chronic catarrh, and if they fail they pay $500 for their over confidence.—

Not in newspaper words but in hard cash! Think of what confidence it takes to put that in the papers—and mean it.

Its makers believe in the remedy. Isn't it worth a trial? Isn't any trial preferable to catarrh?

After all, the mild agencies are the best. Perhaps they work more slowly but they work surely. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are an active agency but quiet and mild. They're sugar-coated, easy to take, never shock nor derange the system and half their power is the mild way in which their work is done. Smallest, cheapest, easiest to take. One a dose. Twenty-five cents a vial. Of all druggists.

A BRILLIANT SOCIAL EVENT.

The leading social event of season in upper Columbia county was the marrage of Prof. A. M. Lesher of Sporting Hill, Lancaster county to Miss Vernie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wenner of Van Camp on Thursday Dec 31 1891. The ceremony was performed by Rev, A Houtz of Orangeville in the presence of a large concourse of immediate relatives. The bride was charmingly arrayed in a handsome dress of bedford cord cloth trimmed with surah silk. Mr. Hervey B. Wenner officiated as best man and Miss Hannah Hartman as bridesmaid. The guests partook of a bountiful banquet prepared by the parents of the bride, with their well known generous hospitality.

A grand reception of the friends of the bride and groom was given in the evening. Mr. Wenner's hospitable mansion was brilliantly illuminated and was crowded with nearly 100 friends and relatives of the happy couple

The company was highly entertained by the Bendertown Cornet Band who furnished an excellent serenade after which refreshments were served to the company. Prof. Lesher, responding to a call thanked the guests for their kindly remembrance of Mrs. Lesher and extended a cordial invitation to friends to visit them in their new home.

After several hours passed in social enjoyment the company disbanded in excellent spirits, having enjoyed the felicities of the occasion.

The Pathogenic Microbe,

Or poison bearing germ, exercises a most destructive influence, and is continually waging war against health. Innumerable is this mighty foe, and but few escape his inquiry. Entering the system through the blood, this poisonous germ infects every part of the body, and spreads its deadly virus everywhere. Under ordinary conditions it multiplies rapidly, and soon maintains a stronghold upon the human body, To overcome this enemy, and put an end to its destruction has for a long while occupied the time and energies of scientists. Their labors have at last been rewarded with success, and a most important discovery has thus been made known to the world. It has been shown that this germ can be forced from the body through the pores of the skin, and that this is the only method by which a permanent and sure cure of diseases of the blood can be affected. S. S. S. has for years been curing blood diseases and their results, and it is by this method of eliminating all impurities through the skin that it has performed its great work. All manner of complaints having their origin in an impure and disordered condition of the blood have been successfully treated by this unrivalled blood medicine. Being purely a vegetable preparation S S. S. is entirely harmless, and no bad effects result from its use.

My Head Was Fairly Rotten,

And how much I suffered it is hard to describe. That loathsome disease, catarrh, caused the above, and the doctors said they could not relieve me. I paid hundreds of dollars for which I received no benefit. I got more good from two bottles of Sulphur Bitters than from all the money I paid to doctors. I shall continue the Sulphur Bitters, as I have great faith that they will cure me.—S. M. Day, 41 Hanover St Boston. 1 8 2t.

OUTLAWRY IN KANSAS.

A PITCHED BATTLE BETWEEN THE ARMED MOBS OF THREE COUNTIES.

Gov. Humphrey Orders Out the Militia to Keep the Peace—A Sheriff Killed at the Head of His Posse—Scene of a Former Massacre.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 6.—Despatches received here state that Seward, Morton and Stevens Counties, in the extreme southwestern part of the State, are under the control of mobs and that a pitched battle at daybreak between armed posses resulted in the death of Sheriff Dunn, who was acting under instructions from Odysius Botkin, Judge of that district. James Beauchamp, Assistant Attorney-General, wired Attorney-General Ivet from Arkalon, the following:

"Information reached Judge Botkin three weeks ago that he was to be killed yesterday morning on the road from his home to the court-house at Springfield.

"After consultation with Sheriff Dunn, it was decided to have the sheriff, with a posse, scout the country between the judge's home and Springfield early in the morning.

"The sheriff's posse went on foot from the judge's house two and one-half miles to the canyon, and had just entered it when forty men, said to be from Woodsdale and Springfield, marched in upon them. At break of day the battle opened, and lasted until sunrise. Sheriff Dunn was wounded, and then riddled with bullets. Sheriff-elect Ray Guyman was seen to fall, and was reported killed, but is unhurt. His fall was occasioned by a cramp in the leg, to which he is subject.

"The Woodsdale gang left for home this afternoon. Warrants are out for the arrest of the murderers. The under sheriff should have help at once. Court must begin to-morrow morning and Judge Botkin will be there unless killed on the road."

Judge Botkin wired the governor of the plot to kill him, and charged A. K. Kilgore and S. O. Aubrey, of Woodsdale, and C. L. Calvert, J. F. VanVories and Borner, of Springfield, with having planned the scheme and lead the mob. Botkin was notified of the battle by a woman, who told him that the mob would start at once for his home and kill him. He charges the Citizens' Alliance of Woodsdale and Springfield with having encouraged the plot.

Gov. Humphrey, who was at his home in Independence, wired the adjutant-general to proceed at once to the scene of trouble in Seward County.

Now the whole country is under arms, and it is feared here that great bloodshed will follow. The plot to kill Botkins grows out of the killing of Sam N. Wood by James Brennan last June and Brennan's release on a writ of habeas corpus, because no jury could be secured. The same men are implicated in the murder who participated in the Hay Meadow massacre of 1888, when Sheriff Cross and his posse were shot down.

NEW YORK'S LEGISLATURE.

Both Branches Meet and Are Duly Organized.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 5.—The Legislature convened to-day and was duly organized.

The Assembly met at 11 o'clock and its members were sworn in by Secretary of State Rice.

Dr. R. P. Bush of Chemung, was elected speaker.

At 11.20 o'clock the lieutenant-governor concluded to call the Senate to order, and at that time there were only two vacant seats, that of Senator Saxton and the vacant seat of Sherwood.

Contrary to expectations, the Republican senators did not undertake to prevent organization.

Walker, Dem., of the Twenty-fifth district, was seated on a strict party vote.

SEVENTEEN DROWNED.

Terrible Discovery in the Hold of a French Schooner Upturned at Sea.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 6.—A steam tug cruising off St. Pierre-Miquelon, towed into that port yesterday, a French banking schooner found floating bottom up. On the schooner being righted and her hold pumped out the bodies of ten decomposed and disfigured sailors were disclosed.

She carried a crew of seventeen. It is supposed that when the schooner upset, the other seven were on deck and dropped into the sea.

The schooner came to grief on the Grand Banks, and it is regarded as a curious fact that she should have drifted back so near to St. Pierre.

TO DIE IN THE CHAIR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Charles McIlvaine, the convicted murderer of Grocer Christian W. Luca in Brooklyn, and Nicola Trezza, convicted of murdering Alexander Salvano, also in Brooklyn, were sentenced by Justice Bartlett, of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday, to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing during the week beginning Monday, February 8.

At the request of Secretary Blaine, Gov. Flower has agreed to grant a stay in the case of Trezza, in whose behalf the Italian government has interfered.

The will of Mrs. Mary Stuart, widow of Robert L. Stuart, the millionaire sugar refiner of New York gives the University of the City of New York, $75,000; Cooper Union, $10,000; American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, $25,000. Would you rather buy lamp-chimneys, one a week the year round, or one that lasts till some accident breaks it?

Common glass may break or not the minute you light your lamp; if not, the first draft may break it; if not, it may break from a mere whim.

Tough glass chimneys, Macbeth's "Pearl-top" or "Pearl-glass," almost never break from heat, not one in a hundred.

Where can you get it? and what does it cost?

Your dealer knows where and how much. It costs more than common glass; and may be, he thinks tough glass isn't good for his business.

DEAFNESS,
ITS CAUSES AND CURE
Scientifically treated by an aurist of world-wide reputation. Deafness eradicated and entirely cured, of from 20 to 30 years' standing, after all other treatments have failed. How the difficulty is reached and the cause removed, fully explained in circulars, with affidavits and testimonials of cures from prominent people, mailed free. Dr. A. FONTAINE, Tacoma, Wash.

A FORTUNE
Inherited by few, is pure blood, free from hereditary taint. Catarrh, consumption, rheumatism, Scrofula, and many other maladies born in the blood, can be effectually eradicated only by the use of powerful alteratives. The standard specific for this purpose—the one best known and approved—is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the compound, concentrated extract of Honduras sarsaparilla, and other powerful alteratives.

"I consider that I have been
several hundred dollars' expense, by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and would strongly urge all who are troubled with lameness or rheumatic pains to give it a trial. I am sure it will do them permanent good, as it has done me."—Mrs. Joseph Wood, West Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Dr. J. W. Shields, of Smithville, Tenn., says: "I regard Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best blood medicine on earth, and know of many wonderful cures effected by its use."

"For many years I was laid up with Scrofula, no treatment being of any benefit. At length I was recommended to give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a trial. I did so, and about a dozen bottles, was restored to perfect health—weighing 230 pounds—and am now a believer in the merits of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—James Petsy, Mine Boss, Breckenridge Coal Co. (Limited), Victoria, Ky.
By Taking

"My niece, Sarah A. Losee, was for years afflicted with scrofulous humor in the blood. About 18 months ago she began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles was completely cured."—E. Caffall, P. M., Losee, Utah.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

New Zealand Holidays.

The colonists of New Zealand, according to Mr. Edward Wakefield, are a holiday making people. There is almost an average of one recognized holiday to a month, and it is a common practice for all working people to take two or more days at Christmas, New Year's and Easter, so as to make an unbroken play time of three or four days, including a Sunday.

The commonest of all holiday amusements is the picnic. The several trades, sects and societies have picnics of their own, to which the public are cordially welcome on the payment of a small sum toward the expense of the entertainment. It is amusing to the railway traveler to note, as he passes through some pretty countryside, not one or two, but perhaps fifty different picnics in full swing, each numbering scores or hundreds of guests. It has been said, with much more truth than is usually to be found in epigrams of this kind, that "New Zealand people are like cattle. You need only turn a number of them into a pasture and leave them alone, and they will make themselves perfectly happy."

On a warm and tempting New Year's day an enterprising burglar might walk through a New Zealand city and help himself undisturbed to the contents of most of the houses. Dwellings and streets are alike deserted, and the casual sojourner who does not understand the ways of the place seeks in vain for some one to speak to or something to do. By 6 or 7 o'clock in the evening the streets are lively with returning crowds.—Youth's Companion.

"How would you like to cure your horse of that shaggy look and rough coat?" "Well, you can do it by giving him Bull's-Head Horse and Cattle Powder; a pound package costs only 25cts."

"I don't seem to quite understand the drift of this play yet," said one gentleman to another at the theatre, the other evening.

"You don't?"

"No; do you?"

"Yes, what I've seen of it. There's one thing, though, that I can't see through."

"What is that?"

"The hat of the lady in front of me."

Would you rather buy lamp-chimneys, one a week the year round, or one that lasts till some accident breaks it?

Common glass may break or not the minute you light your lamp; if not, the first draft may break it; if not, it may break from a mere whim.

Tough glass chimneys, Macbeth's "Pearl-top" or "Pearl-glass," almost never break from heat, not one in a hundred.

Where can you get it? and what does it cost?

Your dealer knows where and how much. It costs more than common glass; and may be, he thinks tough glass isn't good for his business.

DEAFNESS,
ITS CAUSES AND CURE
Scientifically treated by an aurist of world-wide reputation. Deafness eradicated and entirely cured, of from 20 to 30 years' standing, after all other treatments have failed. How the difficulty is reached and the cause removed, fully explained in circulars, with affidavits and testimonials of cures from prominent people, mailed free. Dr. A. FONTAINE, Tacoma, Wash.

A FORTUNE
Inherited by few, is pure blood, free from hereditary taint. Catarrh, consumption, rheumatism, Scrofula, and many other maladies born in the blood, can be effectually eradicated only by the use of powerful alteratives. The standard specific for this purpose—the one best known and approved—is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the compound, concentrated extract of Honduras sarsaparilla, and other powerful alteratives.

"I consider that I have been
several hundred dollars' expense, by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and would strongly urge all who are troubled with lameness or rheumatic pains to give it a trial. I am sure it will do them permanent good, as it has done me."—Mrs. Joseph Wood, West Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Dr. J. W. Shields, of Smithville, Tenn., says: "I regard Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best blood medicine on earth, and know of many wonderful cures effected by its use."

"For many years I was laid up with Scrofula, no treatment being of any benefit. At length I was recommended to give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a trial. I did so, and
By Taking
about a dozen bottles, was restored to perfect health—weighing 230 pounds—and am now a believer in the merits of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—James Petsy, Mine Boss, Breckenridge Coal Co. (Limited), Victoria, Ky.

"My niece, Sarah A. Losee, was for years afflicted with scrofulous humor in the blood. About 18 months ago she began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles was completely cured."—E. Caffall, P. M., Losee, Utah.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.
"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

New Zealand Holidays.

The colonists of New Zealand, according to Mr. Edward Wakefield, are a holiday making people. There is almost an average of one recognized holiday to a month, and it is a common practice for all working people to take two or more days at Christmas, New Year's and Easter, so as to make an unbroken play time of three or four days, including a Sunday.

The commonest of all holiday amusements is the picnic. The several trades, sects and societies have picnics of their own, to which the public are cordially welcome on the payment of a small sum toward the expense of the entertainment. It is amusing to the railway traveler to note, as he passes through some pretty countryside, not one or two, but perhaps fifty different picnics in full swing, each numbering scores or hundreds of guests. It has been said, with much more truth than is usually to be found in epigrams of this kind, that "New Zealand people are like cattle. You need only turn a number of them into a pasture and leave them alone, and they will make themselves perfectly happy."

On a warm and tempting New Year's day an enterprising burglar might walk through a New Zealand city and help himself undisturbed to the contents of most of the houses. Dwellings and streets are alike deserted, and the casual sojourner who does not understand the ways of the place seeks in vain for some one to speak to or something to do. By 6 or 7 o'clock in the evening the streets are lively with returning crowds.—Youth's Companion.

"How would you like to cure your horse of that shaggy look and rough coat?" "Well, you can do it by giving him Bull's Head Horse and Cattle Powder; a pound package costs only 25cts."

"I don't seem to quite understand the drift of this play yet," said one gentleman to another at the theatre, the other evening.

"You don't?"

"No; do you?"

"Yes, what I've seen of it. There's one thing, though, that I can't see through."

"What is that?"

"The hat of the lady in front of me."
